Dickens's Notes.

The Buffalo Commercial is very angry at what we said about its comment on DICKERS's ' Notes.' We are sorry for it, for we only plainly wrote what we honestly thought-that it was shallow and supercilious. Thinking to annihilate us, the Editor hurls at us the dire charge of belonging to the 'Transcendental School.' We shall survive, however, for so far at least as the writer of the Literary Notices, to which special reference is made, is concerned the assertion has no truth, and the charge, therefore, no weight. But the Commercial repels our intended compliment, that the paragraph was "well enough in its place but unworthy the Commercial," and demands our meaning. It was simply this: There is a class of papers which, disregarding truth, principle and courtesy, vilify others for the love of it, and if they can find no good occasion for abuse can at least invent one, and forge letters to suit their purpose. Thus in the beginning of the crusade was DICKERS treated. If a foreigner burdened with a title come among us he is abused and ridiculed by these prints, and, because he is a Lord, he is pronounced unworthy to look upon the face of pure Democracy. If he have no title-no birth-right but that of an honest name -no inheritance but that of genius and industryhe is declared to be a base-born fellow-a low 'Police Reporter' perchance-a successful scavenger in the streets of London, but ignorant of the usages of 'high life,' and unfit for the society of 'gentlemen.' Shallow sneers at DICKENS in such papers we thought would not be out of place-in the Buffalo Commercial we thought they were; and for this we are lustily berated by its Editor. We can retract if urged.

We said that " nothing else we have seen, approaches so near to a complete proof of what Dickens says of the American newspaper press, as the manner in which he has been treated by it," and the Commercial assails our grammar: the word 'else' he declares has no business there. He would have us utter the absurdity that " Nothing approaches so near a proof as the treatment mentioned," not even the treatment itself! We commend him to Wirkham.

The Commercial attempts to prove that Boz does profess to be a profound Philosopher, and that his Notes do pretend to "analyze the character, the institutions, the complex, social and political relations of our Republic." It may be, but we have not so read them. It seems to us that, like all his other works, they elevate Humanity by showing its dignity even in its lowest estate; and we could never find it in our hearts to vilify him because his sympathies were with the lowly and down-trodden, rather than the rich and powerful among us i nor can we join those who think that he should have spent his time while here in gaping at the Astor House and admiring Broadway instead of turning aside to see how our poor are treated, and how truly we believe that 'all men are created equal." In the way thus indicated he may have aspired to rank as a 'social philosopher; and has he not well vindicated his claim?

The Commercial thinks DICKENS did not write what he saw, and instances among his untruths the assertion that the 'Americans never sleep at all or else expectorate in their dreams.' We shall look next for a trenchant assault upon the Bible because it asserts that 'Herod was a fox'-a plain 'unmistakeable exaggeration.' We wish the Commercial would explain the late strange mutation of public opinion concerning Dickens. Before he visited us he was beloved and admired by every body-and as every body believed, for good and substantial reasons. He was welcomed here by congratulations which, though sometimes in bad taste, were at least sincere. But the moment he binted that as an Author he had Literary Rights which he asked might be respected, not only was he basely abused for his impertinent mention of a forbidden topic, but the discovery was suddenly made that he was nothing but a 'Police Reporter, a petty fellow unworthy of notice, and that the books formerly held so delightful were mere trash. Then a letter abusing America was written and his name was forged to it, and a similar article in a Foreign Review was falsely attributed to him; and upon the strength of these two falsehoods he has been vilified more than any other foreigner who ever came among us. How came the leopard thus suddenly to change his spots? We have no special love for Dickens or his Notes; but for their own sake we could wish that our people might abstain at least from proving all the accusations he is represented to have urged against us.

-We are duly thankful for the Commercial's rebake of our 'assumption,' though ignorant of its foundation. In what we have now as heretofore said we claim only to 'to think for ourself;' and assure the Commercial that even its authoritative veto will not prevent our expressing such thoughts freely and frankly as occasion may seem to require.

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES; Edited by Isaac Hays, M. D. Philadelphia, Lea & Bian

We can of course do nothing more than announce the publication of this valuable Medical Quarterly, and state that its pages are filled with matter prepared by the most eminent medical men in the Country, and embracing information which cannot fail to be of distinguished service to all interested in the theory and practice of Medicine and Surgery. Among the articles of most general interest, we notice a review of LIEBIO's Animal Chemistry, a work in which, we are persuaded, a real advance has been made in the important branch of science of which it treats. There are also a great number of Essays on subjects more strictly professional, and a collection of Bibliographical notices which seem to be full and carefully prepared.

Proposals for Organizing an Association.

We present to the friends of Association and the Public, the Constitution of, and Proposals for, founding an Association. We come forward with the proposition with the fullest confidence that it is an undertaking which offers a perfectly safe investment to Capital and a broad and unshackled field of action to the enterprising Industrialist or Producer. To establish such an Association as we propose, about $200,000 in cash capital will be required. It would seem that this sum could be obtained; if there are two hundred persons who can invest each upon an average a thousand flocks, &c. of the Association would be pledged to secure it: this kind of property could not be stolen or squandered, like the Capital of a Bank or an Insurance Company, and those who invested their noney would be on the Property and take part in rendering it profitable and productive. It will offer Man a release from the envious strife, the conflicts, the deceptions and uncertainties of business; it will offer him an agreeable abode, where the advantages of Country and City life can be combined, and the healthy pursuits of Industry an be connected with Intellectual and Social enjoyments, and the cultivation of the Arts and

If wealthy persons would take part in the estab ishment of the proposed Association, it would secure to them the incalculable advantages of Atractive Industry and Health; they could spend their summers in it, and would find a mode of life infinitely superior to that which they now lead n their isolated Country Seats. Their children would, in addition, obtain a thorough Education,or a system of Industrial and Scientific Education, nfinitely superior to any thing that now exists, will e established in the Association.

As regards location, we would recommend some point between the Cities of New-York and Philadelohia. A tract of land of a thousand acres will be required, and if a location could be obtained at a avorable point on the beautiful shores of the Delaware, we would strongly recommend it.

HORACE GREELEY and ALBERT BRISBANE are appointed to receive proposals for subscriptions to Steck. Application can be made to them by leter-post paid-or in person. (To H. GREELEY, at the office of the Tribune; and to A. BRISBANE,

As the first fact to be ascertained is the amount of Cash Capital which can be obtained, those perons who wish to take part in the undertaking are equested to state what amount of Stock they can ake and pay for in cash. We would particularly equest that persons will not make proposals, uness they are perfectly certain that they can meet hem. One-half of the amount subscribed for will e required in April, and one-half in September.

Persons who take a sufficient amount of Stock nay reserve to themselves the right of entering the Association at any future period. By referring to the Constitution, it will be seen that eight per cent. interest is guaranteed to those who invest a Cash

It will be asked-What amount of Stock a peron must take to obtain admission as a member of he Association? We want $200,000; and if none but those who wish to enter the Association will ake Stock, then a subscription of $1,000 will be

SANDS'S SARSAPARILLA.

WHOLE NO. 561.

Improvement in whatever regards the happiness and w fare of our race is constantly on the march to perfection, an with each succeeding day some new problem is solved, or some profound secret revealed, having an important and direct bearing over man's highest destinies. If we take a retrospective view over the past twenty years, how is the mind struck with wonder! What rapid strides has science nade in every department of civilized life! particularly is that which relates to the knowledge of the human system in health and disease. How valuable and indispensable are the curative means recently discovered through the agency of chemistry! How does the imagination kindle and our admiration glow at the ingenuity, the near approach to the standard of perfection, of the present time! Through the elaborate investigations of Physiology, or the science of Life, and the Pathology of prevalent diseases, much valuasie practical knowledge has been gained. In consequence of becoming acquainted with the organization, the elements of the various tissues and structures of the system, remedies have been sought after and discovered exactly adapted to combine with, neutralize and expel morbine matter, the cause of disease, and substitute healthy action in its place. The beautiful simplicity of this mode of treatment is not only suggested by the pathology of diseases, not only grate ful to the sufferer, but perfectly in consonance with the oper ations of Nature, and satisfactory to the views and reasonings f every intelligent, reflecting mind. It is thus that SANDS's SARSAPARILLA, a scientific combination of essentia princip e of the most valuable vegetable substances, operates upon the system. The Sarsaparilla is combined with the most effectual aids, the most salutary productions, the most potent simples of the vegetable hingdom; and its unprece dented success in the restoration to health of those who had long pined under the most distressing chronic maladies, has given it an exalted character, farnishing as it does evidence of its own intrinsic value, and recommending it to the af flicted in terms the afflicted only can know. It has long been a most important desideratum in the practice of medicine to obtain a remedy similar to this-one that would act on the liver, stomach and bowels with all the precisio and petency of mineral preparations, yet without any of their deleterious effects upon the vitai powers of the system

The attention of the reader is respectfully called to the following certificates. However great achievements have heretofore been made by the use of this invalidable nedicine, yet daily experience shows results sulf more remarkable. The proprietors here avail themselves of the opportunity of saying it is a source of coastant satisfaction that they are made the means of relieving such an amount of suffering.

Measure. Sands: Gent-Words cannot express the gratified iteel for your treatment to me, a stranger suffering under one of the most loathsome diseases that ha ure is c pable of bearing. The disease with which I was afflicted commenced with inflammation of the eyes, in the year 1836, which caused almost total bilindness. For this I was treated and finally relieved, but the remedies were such as to cause the development of a scrotulous affection on my left arm "The pain extended from the shoulder to the end of my

"The pain extended from the shoulder to the end of my fingers, and for two years my sufferings were beyond discription, I tried various remedies and consulted different Physicians in New-York and amongst them the late Dr. Bushe, who told me the disease of the arm was caused by the large quantity of mercury taken to oure the inflammation of my eyes.

My sufferings continued, the arm enlarged, tumours formed in different places, and in a few months discharged, making ten running ulcers at one time, some above and some below the elbow, and the discharge was so offensive that no person could bear to be in the room where I was—I then applied to another distinguished Physician who told me amputation of the arm was the only thing that could save

I then applied to another distinguished Physician, who told me amputation of the arm was the only thing that could save my life, as it was impossible to cure so dreadtula disease; but as I was unwilling to consent to it he recommended me to use Swaim's Panacea freely, which I did without deriving but little benefit. "For three years I was unable to raise my hand to my head or comb my hair, and the scrolla now made its appearance on my head, destroying the bone in different places, causing extensive ulcerations and If ared it might reach and destroy the brain—the head swelled very much, accompanied with violent pain, numerous externations. it might reach and sestroy the brain—the head swelled very much, accompanied with violent pain, numerous external remedies were recommended, but they did no good.—About a year since I was taken severely ill with a swelling of the body from head to foot, so that I was entirely helpless, the Doctor advised me to go to the Hospital, for he did not understand my dase; for the last few months I had been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard I could scarcery get my breath. A backing cough constantly annoyed me, and this combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable. Such, gentlemen, had been my situation for seven years of my life when I commenced the use of your Sarsapai illa, but as my case was considered my situation for seven years of my fife when I commenced the use of your Sarsaparilla, but as my case was considered hopeless, and the near prospect of a speedy dissolution seemed inevitable, I but but little ensouragement to persevere. The persuasion of friends induced me to try your medicine, which in a few days produced a great change in my system generally, by causing an appetite, relieving the pains, and giving me strength; as success inspires confidence, I was encouraged to persevere, my pains grew easier, my steam treatment, food reished, the ulcers healed, new my strength returned, food relished, the ulcers healed, new flesh formed, and I once more left within me that I migh flesh formed, and I once have left with the marting of well. I have now used the Sarsaparilla about two months and am like a different being. The arm that was to be amputated has entirely healed, a thing that seemed impossible. I can scarcely believe the evidence of my own eyes, but such is the fact; and it is now as useful as at any period of my life, and my general health is better than it has been for years past.

Health; what magic in the word! how many thousan Health; what magic in the word! how many thousands have sought it in foreign lands and sunny climes, and have sought in vain! Yet it came to me when I had given up to die, and as I feel the pulsations of hearth coarsing through my veins, my whole heart and soul go forth in lervent gratitude to the author of all our sure mercies, that he has been graciously pleased to bless the means made use of. "Truly have you proved yourself the good samaritan to the afflicted, for next to my Greator my life is indebted to you (or rather) the use of your invaluable Sarsaparilla. The value of such a medicine is countless beyond notice, money cannot pay for it. I have been raised from parilla. The value of such a medicine is countees beyond price, money cannot pay for it. I have been raised from death, I may say, for my friends and myself thought it impossible I could recover. And now gentlemen suffer me to add another proof certified too by my friends and guardians as a just acknowledgement of the virtues of your health restoring Sarsaparilla. That the afflicted may also use it and enjoy the benefits it alone can confer, is the heartfelt, fervent wish of their and your friend. MARTHA CONLIN. I know Martha Conlin and believe what she states in this document to be perfectly true. JOHN POWER,
